FCT FLUID COMPONENTS
INTERNATIONAL LLC

www.FluidComponents.com/about/careers

Fluid Components International (FCI) delivers optimized measurement solutions. Our products support reduction of greenhouse gas production, enhance air and water quality, and reduce energy consumption while conserving natural resources around the world. Our application engineering combined with custom instrument selection enables customer systems to run cleanly and efficiently. The byproduct benefit to both customers and communities results in an increase in productivity while minimizing waste and reducing environmental process footprint. If that resonates with you, please read on.

FCI Industrial instruments ensure plant operators minimize their community footprints while maximizing product quality.

FCI Aerospace sensors provide pilots and aircraft operators with certainty through real-time feedback via on-board system health checks to ensure passenger comfort and safety while ensuring efficient operation of the aircraft.

FCI Nuclear products deliver highly qualified safe solutions to operate in a clean energy environment with extraordinary confidence.
